Composting requires little effort considering the many benefits it provides for the environment in addition to your lawn, gardens and houseplants. Compost enriches soil by conditioning it to foster healthy plant growth. Helps soil retain oxygen, nutrients and natural antibiotics to help plants resist disease. Also helps soil retain water, which conserves water by reducing the need for excess watering. By amending soil with all-natural compost, homeowners can enjoy fertilizer-free and chemical-free lawns and gardens. Backyard composting combined with recycling results in 85% less garbage collected, transported, processed and sent to landfill. So composting doesn't just help save the planet, it helps save your tax dollars too!
